Drew: would you have some time Wednesday afternoon of this week to dial into a conference call with me and Donald Urrabazo to discuss the mechanics of getting Science Applications International Corporation ("SAIC") into this case as an involuntary plaintiff on the same terms as SAIC became involved in the Micorosoft case? We are also going to try and get SAIC's in-house counsel involved in the discussion as well.

I talked to Luke McLeroy last week and he suggested that you would be the best person, at least initially, to broach this subject with. Please let me know your availability on Wednesday to discuss this topic. If you have any questions in advance of getting on a call with us, please contact me. Thanks.
